

about fpm

FPM is a professional project management consultancy group which operates in the construction industry having specific experience in the retail, commercial and industrial sectors.

Essential to each project is FPM's unique position as an independent representative acting on behalf of and in the best interests of the Client.

As a business partner, FPM ensures all development projects are delivered on time and within budget satisfying Client's brief.

Forward thinking, analysis and problem solving skills are ever present to minimise the Client's exposure to risk.

Project management with a difference, FPM is in touch with current needs and attitudes of the design and construction industry. A contemporary style of diplomatic management ensures that all key players – architects, designers, builders, contractors, consultants, government bodies – are brought together as a proactive team to realize a successful built outcome for the Client.

In addition, FPM prides itself in having a sensitivity and appreciation for the role of design in construction which essentially creates a positive outcome for all those involved.